DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so if no longer is a source of irritation thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

You can get the news while its new in The Morning Daily Intelligencer.

COMING TO PROCLAIM THE GOSPEL OF GRAIN

ANDERSON SECOND TOWN TO BE VISITED

WILL BE HERE SOON

Experts Canvassing South Carolina to Encourage Grain Growing Will Stop Here Second.

Anderson people are now convinced that the grain experts planning their tour of the State in an effort to encourage the farmers of the State in growing more grain, know what they are up to and what they want to do. According to announcements coming from Columbia the experts will make their first stop at Laurens and will then come on to Anderson, thus picking the best town in the State for the second stop.

For the purpose of taking advantage of a "golden opportunity" and to "reap the harvest and take full advantage of the rare opportunity now offered by world conditions," a grain and "live at home" campaign is to be inaugurated at once in South Carolina.

The whirlwind campaign is to be conducted by the State department of agriculture, Clemson college and the United States farm demonstration forces.

Farmers of South Carolina will be urged to plant more grains and raise more food crops to meet the emergency brought about by the decrease in the price of cotton. The farmers will also be urged to come within the cotton acreage reduction law, which was enacted at the extraordinary session of the general assembly. Every effort will be made to secure good seed for the farmers. The man who has seed for sale is to be brought into touch with the farmer who needs seed.

Bankers, business men and farmers who are financially able will be asked to contribute funds or seed to the cause. A campaign will be waged in every county during the next several weeks.

These plans for helping the South Carolina farmers to solve one of the biggest problems that has ever confronted them were outlined at a conference in Columbia yesterday between E. J. Watson, State commissioner of agriculture, and W. W. Long, State agent for the United States farm demonstration work and the Clemson college extension division.

The message, "Plant More Grain," will be carried to the farmers by experts, who will travel by automobiles throughout the State during the next three weeks. The itinerary is being arranged and the State department of agriculture would be notified by the various communities as to whether meetings are desired.

Commissioner Watson and Mr. Long yesterday decided to ask the secretary of agriculture to detail A. G. Smith, agriculturalist of the farm extension office, for the campaign. Mr. Smith is one of the best equipped agriculturalists in the service of the national department of agriculture.

J. S. Stratton of the Burrill Engineering and Construction company will be included in the party to give expert information as to the construction of grain elevators and the care of the wheat crop.

Tentative plans are for the first meeting to be held at Laurens next week. From Laurens the party will likely go to Anderson, Greenville, Spartanburg, York and Lancaster and then back to Columbia. An effort will be made to hold as many meetings as possible. In some instances meetings will be held at night. The object is to reach as many farmers as possible. Thousands of pieces of literature will be distributed and all information available will be furnished by members of the party.

Yesterday E. I. Beardon, secretary of the Summer chamber of commerce, asked that several meetings be held in Sumter county. The invitation will be accepted. Such requests should be sent to the department of agriculture as soon as possible.

South Carolina is the first State in the South to inaugurate officially a grain campaign. The movement will be vigorously pushed.

CONFERENCE CALLED FOR ANDERSON FOLK

FARMERS WILL HOLD A MEETING HERE

CONSIDER COTTON

Anderson Farmers Say That They Expect to Attend Gathering and Consider Ways and Means.

Farmers coming to Anderson yesterday from all parts of the county said that they had learned with interest of the call issued by Wade Stackhouse of the South Carolina Farmers union, for a cotton conference to be held in every county in the State next Saturday. Indications are that farmer from all parts of the county will be here for the day and will take an active interest in the deliberations, provided such things are held.

The following letter was written yesterday by Wade Stackhouse to all the members of the South Carolina unions:

"I call on the cotton congress in every county in South Carolina to meet at the court house at 11 o'clock Saturday, November 14, to discuss two subjects. First: The planting of small grains, and second: adjusting the rent contract to the acreage reduction law.

"I request that the merchants, bankers and business men will meet with the farmers and will devise ways and means of providing seed to plant oats, wheat, rye and rape. It is now seed time, and while our merchants and bankers feel discouraged over poor collections, it will be short-sighted policy for them to fail to provide ample seed to plant one-third of the cultivated land in South Carolina in small grains. Some of our people seem to fear there will be no demand for small grain next summer.

I believe this fear is groundless and that any surplus oats, wheat and rye will find ready sale at high prices. The future May oats market, quoted yesterday in Chicago at 53 cents per bushel, would indicate that oats in South Carolina should bring that price plus freight to the seaboard. Ship loads of wheat have recently sold at $1.23 per bushel. We can put our oats and wheat on the market at least 60 days before the Western farmer can deliver his. I suggest that the county president of each county congress select two or more speakers to discuss the best method of preparing the land and seeding to small grains. Oats should have been planted, but even now, if immediate preparation is made, they may make a good crop.

"I hope all persons now renting cotton or cash rent will change their rent contract providing that one-half rent can be paid in oats, wheat, corn or rye. I suggest valuing a part of the cotton rent at 10 cents per pound, and in place of it to take oats at 50 cents per bushel or corn at $1 per bushel, both delivered in bags at the railroad station; or hay at $20 per ton in bales delivered at the station. This will guarantee tenants a fair price for grain and hay, and will relieve their fears of not being able to handle grain and hay crops. This change in rent contract I feel may reduce the South Carolina crop next year 200,000 bales. Bear in mind that fully 5,000,000 bales of cotton now made will have to be carried in the South until September, 1915, and that the value of every bale carried over will be lessened by every acre of cotton planted. If you plan to carry over any cotton, use your best efforts to get at least one-third of the cultivated land in South Carolina planted in small grains.

"I request county papers to publish this call, and urge a large attendance at the meetings next Saturday. I hope every editor of the county papers in the State will editorially and otherwise urge the planting of small grain immediately.

WADE STACKHOUSE, President South Carolina Division Southern Cotton Congress.
